LOCAL NEWS.

If you see it in the Townsman, it's news to be relied upon; if it is news and so, you'll see it in the Townsman.

Prof. Smyth of the Seminary preached at Georgetown last Sunday.

Repairs and improvements are being made in the American Express office.

Rev. E. B. Bary of Bangor, Maine, preaches at the Free Church next Sunday.

The races at the Lawrence Riding Park this week were attended by many from town.

Rev. Nathan Hunt, of Milton, will preach at the Baptist Church next Sabbath.

Rev. F. W. Greene of the West Church will preach at the South Church next Sunday.

W. F. Draper's Main Street business block is to receive a new dress of paint. Levi Young is to do the work.

Howard Russell and family of Cambridge are occupying the residence of Rev. J. H. Towne on Salem Street.

Smith & Manning's building on Essex Street is receiving a new dress of paint. E. H. Barnard is doing the work.

Miss Bertha Higgins gave an enjoyable lawn party to her friends last Friday night. It was her eighteenth birthday.

The Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Company has extended its quarters by adding the room formerly occupied by William Charnley.

Judging from the number of applications made up to this time, the outlook for a larger school than ever at Phillips is very promising.

Painter Young has just completed an interior job at Abbot Academy, and is now at work on W. S. Jenkins' house at the corner of Morton and Bartlett Streets.

President William J. Tucker, of Dartmouth College has moved to Hanover, having purchased the beautiful residence of Prof. A. S. Hardy of that place.

The July number of the Bibliotheca Sacra contains as the first article in the book, a paper on "The Relation of the Church to Social Reform" by David Kinley of Madison, Wis.

Ernest M., child of William and Jane Lord, died at the home of his parents in Marland Village Wednesday. The cause of his death was meningitis. The burial occurred yesterday.

About twenty members and friends of the Niotus Club enjoyed a ride to Haggitt's Pond last night. Pray furnishing conveyance. It was a splendid evening, and boating, refreshments, etc., were fully enjoyed.

W. E. McClintock of the state road commission was in town Wednesday and in company with the sewer commissioners looked over the ground for the proposed sewerage with a view to taking the contract for making surveys.

Last Tuesday George W. Stover took his Lowell choir on their annual excursion up the Merrimack river to the Camp of Pines, half-way to Nashua. Mr. and Mrs. Stover did not return until the next day. A good time was enjoyed by all.

On Monday next, July 31, Dr. Bancroft will complete twenty years of service as principal of Phillips Academy. Principal John Adams served in the same position twenty-three years, and Principal Samuel H. Taylor almost thirty-four.

During the hard storm last Saturday afternoon lightning struck a corn barn on the Jonas Holt place in Scotland District. Mr. Barker, who lives there, found it on fire when he arrived home, but succeeded in extinguishing it before much damage was done.

The union picnic of the Andover, North Andover and Methuen granges at Canobie Lake was a success, about one thousand being present. Andover contributed her share of the attendance and all report a most enjoyable time. Sports, dancing and boating helped to pass the day. Members of several other granges were present.

The storm about noon Wednesday was very heavy here and came up very quickly. It was almost as dark as night and many people feared a cyclone, and, by the way, it was the third anniversary of the cyclone at Lawrence which occurred July 28, 1890. No serious damage is reported here from Wednesday's storm, although several trees were broken and blown down and vegetation damaged somewhat.

Mrs. Caroline Clift Rogers, who for many years lived on the estate known now as the Downing place, died in Cambridge in her 91st year. She leaves five children, Mrs. I. A. Brownson, in whose home she passed her declining years, Mrs. F. E. White, Mrs. Arthur F. Clapp of Allston, and two sons, B. F. and L. W. Rogers, both Cambridge residents. The eldest daughter, Mrs. Standish, died in 1866, leaving a son, Dr. Myles Standish, the well-known specialist in eye diseases, who is also one of our Andover taxpayers.

Miss Susie Wilbur and Miss Mabel Smith will start Monday for a visit to Chicago and the World's Fair.

Mrs. George H. Poor and daughter, Miss Edith, are at the Russell cottage, North Conway, N. H.

N. Farrington Flint is taking his annual outing at Old Orchard Beach. Miss Clara Flint has just returned from a visit in Worcester.

David Lindsay of Valpey Bros' has been enjoying his vacation this week. O. P. Chase goes next and will visit Springfield, Vt.

Mrs. F. R. Beard and daughter, A. Josephine, recently returned from the World's Fair. They went there from Oberlin, O., where Miss Beard has been attending school.

The Town Valuation.

The assessors tax lists show the valuation of the town to be as follows: personal estate, Centre District, $576,343, South, $502,808, West, $402,687; total, $1,481,838; real estate, Centre, $1,781,305, South, $740,877, West, $820,720, total, $3,342,902. The total valuation is thus $4,824,740. The lists show several other facts, among them the following: total taxpayers, 1890; total polls 1891; those paying poll-tax only 827.

The Poor-Poore Family.

The triennial reunion of this family will be in Lawrence on the 6th of the coming September. Owing to peculiar circumstances the committee of arrangements have been led to have the meeting this year on the first Wednesday of the month, instead of a week later as usual.

Of the four brothers and sister Alice by the name of Poore, who came from Old to New England, Thomas and Daniel settled in Andover. The former left no posterity, while Daniel married a sister of John Farnum, another early settler of this town. Daniel Poore built his house on the eastern side of the Shawshine, near the North Andover Station at the junction of the Boston & Maine and Essex Railroads, and his children and grand-children have been for nine generations intermarrying with the families bearing the surnames of the other early settlers of old Andover, so that a large part of those bearing these names are akin to the Poor family.

Bailey Family Reunion.

Family gatherings and reunions are the order of the day now, and especially so during the pleasant summer months when they can be held out of doors at some pleasure resort. Among those to take place this year will be that of the Bailey family, which is to occur at Canobie Lake, an attractive resort at Windham, N.H., on August 17. The Bailey family is an extensive one, and its members are to be found in almost every state and territory in the United States. The progenitors came to the United States in 1635, and settled at Rowley, Mass. The first head of the family was Richard Bailey, and from him sprung all the members of the family. The reunion at Canobie Lake promises to be well attended, as there are many members not far from that place. There are some in this vicinity.

The Memorial Hall Library

Will be closed one week beginning next Monday, July 31st. The reading room will be open the usual hours. Books due that week will not be due till the following Monday.

FRYE VILLAGE.

Joseph W. Smith and family are at Biddford Pool.

Miss Emma Ward, of Springfield, is visiting at her home here.

Mrs. Emily Poland, of Weymouth is here visiting at Alexander Wilson's.

Mrs. Mary Clement of Reading is a visitor at the home of Walter S. Donald.

Alice and Howard Bell are at Morri-mac with Mr. and Mrs. John L. Morris-son.

A large elm tree in front of the Smith residence was struck by the lightning Wednesday, and was so damaged that it will probably have to be cut down.

Twenty-six, a full party, start to-night for Marblehead on a fishing excursion. The party is in charge of Thomas Bentley who is famous for these trips.

Mrs. Charles Stewart of Indianapolis and Mrs. George Lamson of Lawrence have been visiting William Poor and other relatives in the village.

Mrs. Robert L. Morrison and daughter of Detroit, are here on a visit to her father, David Birnie. Miss Jessie Leitch accompanied them on the trip.

The Escaped Burglar now in the Tolls.

The burglar who escaped from the Lawrence police and Chief of Police Cheever last week Tuesday is now safe behind the bars at the Lawrence jail. He was arrested Monday in Camden, Me. His name is Rufus E. Ferrer, the same as found in the pocketbook which Chief Cheever picked up and from which the clue to his identity was obtained. District officer Batchelder and Inspector Libbey of Lawrence brought him back from Camden, Tuesday. He was arraigned in the police court charged with breaking and entering the residence of W. H. Hayes of North Andover. He pleaded not guilty and waived examination. He was held in $1500 for the October term of the Superior Court.

Abbott Village.

William McDermott is a late arrival here from Arbroath, Scotland.

The Lawrence Athletics will play here to-morrow afternoon and a team will be picked up on the grounds to meet them.

George Murray arrived here last Saturday from Cleveland, O. Mr. Murray was goal keeper on the Arbroath, Scotland, foot-ball team last year.

The following team will represent Andover in the return match with the Boston Cricket Club at Boston to-morrow afternoon; Bruce, Gordon, Haddon, Ripley, Saunders, Pearson, Boyle, Kydd, Coates, Brownlee, Ridings. Reserves, Wilkie and Whitelaw.

Owing to the non-appearance of the second eleven of the Merrimacks last Saturday, the Andover second eleven played a picked team, made up mostly of employees of the Tye Rubber Co. The Andover team won on a very close margin the score being 55 to 51.

The "Time-Saver" is a guide to the World's Fair that deserves its name. It names and locates 5,000 of the most interesting things on the Exposition grounds, grading them according to their importance. No other guide does this. The visitor who uses a "Time-Saver" can see the Fair in one-third of the time usually occupied and find without difficulty everything he wants to see. An encyclopedia of World's Fair information that can be carried in your breast pocket. Compiled by a newspaper man, who inspected every exhibit on the grounds. Not sold on the Exposition grounds; but nothing sold there will take its place. Ask your newsdealer for it, or send 25 to W. E. Hamilton, Room 12, No. 283 South Clark St. Chicago, Ill.

The value of a good name was well exemplified the other day, when a man asked one of our druggists for a bottle of Sarsaparilla. "Whose?" inquired the clerk. "Whose? why, Ayer's, of course. Ye don't suppose I'm going to run any risks with Hannah, do ye?"

Our sales of ready-made Sheets and Pillow Cases have been enormous. Ladies realize that it is cheaper to buy them than to make them. See them at the Bargain Emporium, 302 to 310 Essex Street, Lawrence.

A Promising Religious Movement.

But glory, honor and peace, to every man that worketh good.—Romans ii., 10.

The Christian Endeavorers, as they are called, held their twelfth annual Convention during the past week in Montreal.

This movement has passed the experimental stage, is one of the peculiarities of the times, and is significant because it discovers to us the drift of opinion in the churches of the land.

Twelve years ago it had a very humble origin. Rev. Dr. Clarke, its present presiding officer, organized a small band of workers, who simply pledged themselves to do a kindly deed whenever the opportunity offered, or, as Dr. Clarke says, "to do whatever He would like to have you do." It was a simple platform to adopt; but its enactment would require a good deal of moral courage and clean pluck. Theology went to the rear, practical Christianity to the front. Discussion, debate, controversy were disallowed, and "going about doing good" was the first and only demand.

There were plenty to sneer at the new organization, and criticism was frequently tipped with bitterness. "A hot house for forcing spiritual vegetables" was the contemptuous remark of some, while others spoke of "a wishy washy flood of youthful gush." But the membership grew—grew very rapidly, and then the critics and prophets of evil ceased their bawling and began to applaud. All opposition was conquered when the managers reported the amount of hard work done, and now nearly every State in the Union is represented.

The great body of young folk, filled with ardor and enthusiasm, reminds one of St. George when he buckled on his armor and sailed forth for a deadly conflict with the dragon. Their business is to do a good act and to say a good word—a noble end, an elevating and inspiring creed, and quite long enough.

The way in which public opinion regards them is gathered from the address of Senator Desjardin, Mayor of Montreal, who said:—

While I am a Roman Catholic myself, and while Montreal is a Roman Catholic city—that is, the greater portion of her citizens profess that faith—none will extend them a heartier welcome than we will.

When he added, "It is not a battle of creeds nowadays, but a battle between belief and unbelief," there was such a storm of applause that the reverend gentlemen who condemned Dr. Briggs might have heard it if they had listened.

Dr. Clarke referred to the influence of such a body of young folk in the political life of this country, and it is safe to say that if his advice should be followed the government would rest on bedrock during the next generation. His exact language is worth quoting, and is as follows:—

You have promised "to do whatever He would like to have you do;" then vote as He would have you vote; then you will not knowingly vote for a bad man or a bad measure; and if need be you will sacrifice your party rather than your principles.

When politicians realize that men with principles are watching their nominations they will not dare to put up a bad man for your suffrage, for they realize, what so many of the secular papers expressed last summer after the wonderful Convention in New York city, that there is a new moral force in this country that must be reckoned with. Go to the primaries of your party and take your Christian Endeavor pledge with you. Go to the caucus, go into the Legislature, stand for Congress or for Parliament, but when you get there, for God and the Church and your country, "do what He would like to have you do."

That is practical religion, a kind of religion that is worth something every day, and one that claims the sympathy and admiration of all sects and classes of men. When theologians begin to split hairs the great bustling, bustling multitude turn away. The majority of mankind doesn't know anything about theology except in a rudimentary way, and doesn't want to. Not all the learned wranglings of all the conventions in the world ever made a man a better Christian; but they have made infidels by the score. These latter are their natural product, and always will be. But when men and women organize for the purpose of making the age better and purer and cleaner; when their only rivalry is in the accomplishment of the most good, the succor of the helpless, the maimed, the corrupt; when they tell us that God is more truly glorified by building a hospital or leading a poor castaway back to paths of virtue or dragging the drunkard out of his vicious ways and setting him on his feet than by all the creeds that were ever invented from the Council of Nice down to the present hour, we may be somewhat startled, but we can't help saying:—"If that is your notion about religion let us have all you can beg or borrow or buy. It is what we have been waiting for, but what nobody has ever given us."

We therefore look on these Endeavorers as marking a new era. Let them beware, however, for by and by there will come a crucial moment when some zealot will try to introduce a theological test. If he fails the after years will be glad and prosperous. If he succeeds the Christian Endeavor movement will become simply a curiosity, to be laid on the shelf with the dusty controversial bric-a-brac already accumulated.—New York Herald.

The Fresh Air Fund.

The story of the "Fresh Air Fund" will never be told enough until the cities of the world have become the cities of the Great King, "where all the world is sweet." It was fifteen years ago that this question appeared in a paper, "Have you helped any one this week?" and by it a new plan of usefulness was suggested—Ten cents will give a tired mother a ride and a chance to spend the day in green fields. Like the grain of mustard seed this has grown into a wide-reaching charity which shelters multitudes of weary ones during the long summer heats.

Many are so fostered by work that they can leave their close, crowded homes for not more than a day. For these, a succession of picnics is provided in Franklin Park, with plentiful dinners and pleasing entertainments, at an expense of only thirty-five cents for each person. Others are permitted to enjoy a day at Crescent Beach or Nantasket. The best of its gifts is Rosemary Cottage, in Eliot, Maine, which was given in memory of a little child, where poor children, tired mothers, and over-worked shop girls are sent for two weeks at a cost, including transportation, of less than seven dollars per person. Forty-three are now at this "haven for weary ones distressed."

The children tell with delight of treading hay, of swinging all they want to, and of the stories read to them on Sunday afternoons, while all have climbed the hill to see Mount Washington in one direction, and in the other the Isles of Shoals, "looking like long white islands."

A Norwegian lad, on being asked what he liked best at the Cottage, loyally pointed to the great American flag—to him a veritable banner of love—as it floated from its staff on the grounds and answered, "I like best to see that flag flying."

How new and beautiful the most common ways of happy living are to some of them is shown by the remark of the little boy who said, "Mamma when shall we go again to that picnic where they ring the bell for meals?" No wonder he thought the two weeks were a continuous picnic!

A mother had added to her own large family a sister's five children who were left motherless. Though worn out, she felt that she must not leave her little charge; but when she was allowed to take four of the children with her, her happiness was complete, and she says that she shall make a better mother for the two weeks at Rosemary Cottage.

Another mother thought that heaven must be like the life at Rosemary, and gauging her children about her after their return resolved with them to make their own home as much like that as possible.

Contributions to continue the work of the FRESH AIR FUND the present season are solicited. They should be sent to REV. D. W. WALDRON, 7-A Beacon Street, Boston, and will be promptly acknowledged.

Littell's Living Age.

The contents of late numbers of The Living Age exhibit the usual wide range of subjects and nice discrimination in their selection, characteristic of this leading eclectic magazine.

Foremost in value and interest is an article entitled "Literary Discoveries in Egypt." The land of Egypt is ever of deepest interest: around its name cluster memories of by-gone ages, and from its bosom are drawn, from time to time, literary treasures of untold value. The article to which we have called attention gives a full account of numerous clay tablets, some of them made of Nile mud, covered with cuneiform inscriptions, unearthed within a few years at Tell-el-Amarna, and which prove to be a correspondence between certain kings of Egypt who lived in the 15th century B. C., and their contemporaries and dependents.

Many other prominent articles are contained in the issues of the present month. The subscription price of The Living Age is $8.00 a year, postpaid. A specimen copy may be had by sending 15 cents to LITTELL & CO., Publishers, Boston, Mass.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis. was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Ed. Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O. had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. ENGLISH TRAVEL EXPENSIVE.

Why Rates by Rail For Passengers and Freight Are So High.

The eminent English railway authority, Mr. William M. Acworth, points out many causes for the differences between railways in this country and the United States. The higher rate of charges on English roads are thus explained:

The very large capital outlay of English railways is of course one main reason of the high standard of rates and fares in England. Exactly how high that standard is we have no means of knowing, for our railway statistics, made up in a form that was laid down by an act of parliament about 30 years back, carefully suppress the information that it is most necessary for us to have.

Ten miles and passenger miles are not here recorded. We know that each ton of goods carried pays the railways on the average about 60 cents. If we guess that the average distance is about 25 miles, we arrive at an average rate of 2.40 cents per ton mile, which is not very far from three times the average rate in the United States. So in the case of passengers we may guess that the average fare is about 1.75 per mile, which though lower than the American average, is higher than in any European country. Such a result seems very far from satisfactory. High cost of construction might have justified a high range of rates at fares at the outset, but year by year the per mile of line open increases in density, and yet the goods rates hardly come down at all—in the last year or two their tendency has been all the other way—while the passenger fares only come down very slowly.

And yet the explanation is not far to seek. Our services have always been expensive to work. They are becoming more expensive year by year. In America trainroads are mainly limited by the capacity of the engines—ours by the weight of goods or number of passengers that have had time to accumulate in the very short interval between one train and another. Let me illustrate: If a man is sailing from New York to Europe, he will choose his favorite line or his favorite boat, regardless of the time of day or day of the week at which it starts. On the other hand, if the Manhattan elevated were to try to run its trains only once in 10 minutes in the slack hours of the day the street cars would rob it of the bulk of its passengers.

Now, in England our business is all between places which in America would be regarded as close together. We call Manchester "the north of England," yet Manchester is only 44 hours from London. Consequently there must be trains between the two points at all hours of the day, to suit the convenience of passengers wanting to go at any time. Consequently, too, each train runs with very much less than a trainload of passengers. Then these trains must be run at high speeds, for though a few minutes more or less are of little importance in a journey of hundreds of miles, a quarter of an hour out of four hours is a very considerable percentage. High speeds mean few stops, and few stops mean additional trains to serve the second class stations. Then high speeds and frequent expresses for passengers mean high speeds and short trains for good—that is, half loaded—engines, for an engine loaded to its full capacity moves so slowly—occupies the line, that is, for so long a period—that it is impossible to find room for it.

But it would not be true to say that the goods are worked at high speed simply for the convenience of the railway management. On the contrary, the demand for speed in the case of merchandise traffic is fully abreast of that in the case of passengers. Broadly, it may be said that the English goods service is based on the supposition that, between important towns at least, whatever is handed to the railway company at the forwarding station over night will be delivered to the consignee the first thing next morning. Now, a service such as this, in the nature of things, can never be a cheap one.—Engineering Magazine.

Current Arrangements Responed.
NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 20.—Jose Correio was to have been arraigned yesterday for the murder of Bertha May Manchester on May 30. M. G. B. Swift, counsel for the prisoner, filed a plea of misnomer. The plea was accepted and another session of the grand jury will be held.

Evading Maine's Liquor Law.
LEWISTON, Me., July 17.—Boston wholesalers are using ingenious methods to outwit Sheriff Hill's deputies, who of late have been seizing liquors at the railway station, and whisky kegs have recently been taken from barrels of pork, lard, and from the center of crockery crates.

Known Held in $5000 Bail.
BOSTON, July 17.—Louis G. Knowlton, the self-confessed forger, waived examination to two charges of forgery Saturday, and was held in $5000 for the August term of the Suffolk grand jury. He was committed to the Charles street jail in default of bail.

Biddeford Mills May Close.
BIDDEFORD, Me., July 20.—The Pepperell and Laconia mills' storehouses are rapidly filling, and some plan for curtailing the production will have to be made. A shutdown will be inevitable if the condition of the market does not improve.

Struck by Lightning.
SPRINGFIELD, Vt., July 20.—During heavy rain with hail, lightning struck Charles Johnson's house, passing down the chimney and running along the kitchen floor. Cora Staples was struck senseless and badly burned.

Sentence None Too Heavy.
BOSTON, July 18.—Leonard Wouters was sentenced to 15 months at the house of correction for feloniously assaulting Jenn Buhler, a 11-year-old girl, on June 1 last.

GEORGE WARREN COLE.

At New London, Ct., his adopted home, there passed away one of Andover's brightest and noblest young men last Wednesday night. Malarial fever two weeks ago gradually developed into typhoid and for a week Mr. Cole had been comfortably ill. No fears at all were felt by his watchers up to Wednesday noon, but at this time bowel complications set in and no power could save the life so precious to a home, so loved by hosts of friends.

Five years ago after having thoroughly mastered the carpenter's trade under the tutelage of his father, George S. Cole, he began the study of architecture and so rapid was his advancement, that in less than a couple of years, he was in charge of the erection of two most noticeable buildings in New London, as the representative of Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge, the Boston architects.

There in New London, Mr. Cole found a permanent home and the Thursday papers of his new home best tell of his place in the life of that city.

The Telegram says:—
News of the death of George Warren Cole will be received by the public with a shock this morning. It was known that he was confined to his home with an attack of illness, but it was not generally known to be serious. It developed into typhoid fever, however, and yesterday his condition was critical. He began to sink towards evening and died about 10.30.

Mr. Cole made many friends during his residence in New London and leaves several monuments to his skill as an architect in various parts of the city. In that respect he was very successful and had before him a most promising future. At the time he was taken sick he was engaged in important drawings in competition and had several buildings in construction for which he had furnished the plans and specifications.

It was but recently that he finished and moved into a handsome residence on Post Hill, where with his wife and child, he was happily situated.

He had been unusually fortunate since he came to New London to reside, and no young man could hope for a brighter future than that which was before him. Death has now cut short this promising career, and the sympathy of the public will go out to the bereaved family.

The Globe says:—
Mr. Cole was 27 years old. He came here as the representative of the Shepley Rutan & Coolidge company when the Williams Memorial Institute building was erected under contract with the Norcross Bros. He superintended the construction of that building and the Nathan Hale Grammar School and later began business on his own account as an architect and designer, being very successful from the beginning of his venture. He was the architect of some of the most noticeable houses erected in this city in the past four or five years. Nearly all the residences on the Post Hill section are from designs of Mr. Cole, the Charles A. Sackett residence in the Pequot section, a very attractive building, was also constructed from plans of Mr. Cole and also the Winthrop school building. His ability was of a high order and he gave to this city a style of architecture that will be conspicuous for its beauty for a great many years to come.

Mr. Cole was the son of George S. and Emma Cole, and was born in Andover, Mass., 27 years ago. He married Miss Nellie Dennis, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth and the late Samuel Dennis, of New London, about four years ago. His wife and infant child survive him.

Mr. Cole made many and fast friends during his short residence here by his admirable qualities of heart and mind, who will sincerely regret his death and extend the warmest sympathy to his widow.

The Day says:—
The death of George Warren Cole, so sudden and unexpected a termination to his life, has shocked the community to which he was a comparatively new comer, but no less a valuable and esteemed member.

Mr. Cole came here in 1889 as the representative of Messrs. Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge, architects of Boston, to superintend the building of the public library and the Williams Memorial Institute. That task being accomplished, Mr. Cole had already become identified with the new era of progress in New London, and his desire to become a permanent resident of this city coincided with his business interests and resulted to the great advantage of the town in an improvement of existing buildings and the erection of many new ones.

Mr. Cole's abilities as an architect were at once recognized not only in New London, but in various instances in other cities, where he was a successful competitor over older and better known architects for a number of large public and private buildings. He had laid the foundation broad and deep for a profitable occupation for years to come and had promise of a brilliant career.

people at large at his early death. Mrs. Cole and one child survive him.
He will be remembered in Andover as a boy, but the memory will be a pleasant one cherished by many friends for years to come. The death is a most sad one. His success had been almost phenomenal, and the cutting off of this young, large, life will be a sad blow to many Andover, as well as other, friends. Funeral services will be held at New London tomorrow and interment in the same place.

It is remarkable to see to what trouble people will sometimes go to get around a rule or a law which does not exactly suit them. A noteworthy instance has been brought to our notice recently. It is a well-known fact that since Haggitts Pond water has been used for town purposes, bathing has been strictly forbidden in that beautiful sheet of water. It was a very hard thing for our young people to be deprived of the privilege of taking a "dip" there, but such a privation was necessary. Now, we are told, several young fellows have been in the habit of going out sailing on the pond and getting tipped over "accidentally on purpose," for the sake of a bath there. Instances are quoted where they have even prepared themselves for the tip-over by arraying themselves in bathing suits, a queer sailing costume, by the way. This may be a bright, smart trick, and a good way of evading the law, but be careful, young men, you may try it once too often.

Tax Collector Marland furnishes us this week from his tax sheets over two columns of interesting figures which practically show who our rich men are, and who contribute to the finances of the town. On account of the increase in the rate, the list of those paying over $50 is considerably larger than last year. But however long or short, this list proves very interesting reading, and a subject for much comparison and comment. While no three assessors could do the work to the satisfaction of everyone, yet we think the present board has acquitted itself in a very creditable manner. The fact that the total valuation of the town has been increased by over $163,000 more than last year is a very gratifying thing for our citizens to consider. Other interesting facts can be gleaned from a perusal of the list and valuation figures.

Patrolman Paisley of the police force was discharged this week for neglect of duty and want of respect to superior officers.

Methuen has voted to put in a water supply and appropriated $150,000 for that purpose. The supply will come from driven wells.

Dr. Andrew F. Shea, a prominent citizen, died Tuesday at the age of 35 years of inflammation of the bowels. He was president of the water Board and had been an alderman. He was also a member of several organizations and a highly respected citizen.

Wednesday's storm did some damage here. The fact that it was the cyclone anniversary frightened many people. The large chimney at Lee's chemical works was struck and damaged to the extent of $1000. A chimney on the parochial residence of the Augustinian Fathers on Haverhill Street was torn away, and also a flag-pole on the roof of J. F. Bingham's house. Several trees were also damaged.

During the storm Wednesday an electric car knocked down a French woman, Delia Feurie, who was crossing Essex Street at the Franklin Street crossing. She was dragged quite a distance, but the car was going slowly so that it was stopped before the wheels could injure her. She was injured some internally. At the time of the accident she was crossing the street, holding her umbrella down on the side toward the car, and with the noise of thunder and rain she probably did not hear the car.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Said the man to the Irish boy? "What are you fishing for?" "Frogs," said the boy. "What do you bait with?" "I bate 'em wid a stick," replied the boy. Frogs and some people's ideas about paints are the same as they were a hundred years ago. The Chilton Paint Co. is trying to convince the public that given the proper materials, mixed and ground by the proper machinery, the result can but be a better point than it is possible to make by hand. Does it not seem reasonable that, where the materials used in making a paint are seven times passed through machinery, that does not vary in its action, the mixture is going to be more perfect than where a man or boy stirs them with a stick, adding a little oil, stirring a few times, then a little more lead and color, a few more stirs with the stick, until he gets tired and says he guesses it will do. Think this over. You must see that the man cannot do the work of a machine. We have the latest and best paint machinery that can be bought. Chilton Paint Co., New York and Boston.

Are Animals Ever "Cruel?" Scarcely mankind has sufficient faults and failings of its own to answer for without being called upon to assume the responsibility of animal failings as well. An American author has discovered that domestic animals, such as cats or dogs, are not only subject to ennui, but also display their feelings under that infliction after very much the same fashion as their human friends, a fact which no one who has kept tame animals will be tempted to deny.

But from this fact our contemporary, The News, leaps to a perfectly unwarrantable conclusion and idly asserts that ours is the fault, that mankind has inoculated the beast creation with its own particular disease and that it is civilization "which produces ennui, not only in men, women and children, but even in cats and dogs." "We may well blush," it continues, "when we think how man has demoralized the dog. We have taught the dog to be bored. We have corrupted him by our society." And again, "Ennui is one of man's many inventions, but he has taught the unprofitable vice to the domestic or at least to the household animals—pupils only too apt in evil."

Was ever so monstrous a charge leveled against our innocence! The next thing we shall be told is that we are the cause that dogs do bark and bite and that whatever may have been the morality of Dr. Watts his natural history is no better than his poetry. The News, if it is so assured of the demoralizing influence it has exercised upon dogs, is welcome to blush for itself. We prefer to maintain that dogs sorrow under boredom for the same simple reason that they delight to bark and bite, "for 'tis their nature to."—London Spectator.

THE KIND THAT CURES

WILLIAM BURKE, Springfield, Mass.

"It's The Kind That Cures" SAYS WILLIAM BURKE. DANA'S SARSAPARILLA CO. GENTLEMEN:—For the past eight years I have been troubled with Erysipelas, fearful headaches and a dazed feeling constantly unable to work most of the time. I was induced to try DANA'S SARSAPARILLA, and after using three bottles I felt better than I had for five years. At times I could not eat for two or three days at a time—now I feel like a new man. My appetite is ravenous—can eat anything. Headache all gone, and I can say I feel entirely cured. I can fully warrant it.

DANA'S SARSAPARILLA to do all this—and to any suffering, I recommend it. Try it and be convinced. "It's the Kind That Cures." WM. BURKE. Yours very truly, Wm. Burke. Springfield, Mass. Sir:—Mr. Burke is well known in Springfield, especially in sporting circles as owner of the running horse "Rugby." His testimony is reliable. Respectfully, B. NOBLE, Druggist. 167 Chestnut St., Springfield, Mass. Dana's Sarsaparilla Co., Belfast, Maine.

MATTERS AT SIAM.

France's Ultimatum Finally Agreed to by the King.

Practical Accession to All Demands—The Reply, However, Said to Be Unsatisfactory to France.

PARIS, July 24.—Upon a second demand of France's ultimatum Siam agrees to evacuate the posts on the left bank of the Mekong within a month. The king deplures sincerely the loss sustained by France and the incidents at Cam, Mon, Kang and Chay, as well as the attack on the French gunboat at the entrance of the Melam. Bangkok will be set at liberty and every satisfaction given so far as compatible with the demands of justice and the independence of Siam, which the French government declares itself.

Willing to Respect.

The reply continues: We agree to punish those who have been guilty of aggression in accordance with either international or French law, and to make reparation to the families of the victims.

With regard to the indemnity of 2,000,000 francs the king of Siam admits liability, but proposes that a mixed commission be appointed to ascertain the exact amount of the injuries suffered. As to the immediate deposit of 3,000,000 francs to cover the French claims, his majesty says that, having reason to think that this sum done, he relies upon the justice of the French government to return the balance after inquiry is made.

This reply not being considered satisfactory in any point, the French minister at Bangkok will comply with the instructions previously sent to him and will quit the place.

The news of Siam's defiant reply to the French demands caused much discussion in the city last night. On the boulevards and in the public places intense interest was manifested in the policy which the country would pursue to enforce the demands upon Siam.

At midnight it was stated that Siam's reply to France's ultimatum is considered unsatisfactory. M. Pavie is probably leaving Bangkok on Wednesday to go aboard the cruiser Torpil.

The refusal of M. Derville, French minister of foreign affairs, to give Siam an extension of time for her reply to the ultimatum is ascribed to his desire to force Siam's hand and prevent her negotiating for British support.

Pavie Leaves Bangkok.

BANGKOK, July 26.—M. Pavie, French minister resident, started down the river yesterday in the warship Inconstante, accompanied by the warships Lutin and Comete. All is quiet in this city.

Could France Ask More?

BANGKOK, July 27.—M. Pavie, the French minister resident, prior to his departure had a final interview with Devawongse, the Siamese foreign minister, who said that his government was astonished that France considered their reply to the French ultimatum as a refusal to comply with its terms. It was impossible, he said, to accept definitely an indefinite proposal.

France had never derived her rights in Annam and Cambodia, but the king, earnestly desiring peace and a speedy settlement of the whole case, had declared his readiness to abandon Annam and Cambodia, all the posts that had been attacked, as well as the territory near them, including Stungtreng and Khong, although these places were admitted to be Siamese.

A Change of Name.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., July 25.—The grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against Jose Corrae de Mello for the killing of Bertha May Manchester of Fall River. De Mello was before indicted under the name of Jose Corrae. The new indictment is exactly the same as the previous one, except the substitution of the correct name.

"Generous" Selectmen.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., July 26.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Hamlin and Eugene Peltier have not yet been found. The Egremont and Sheffield selectmen got together and, after much talk, decided themselves justified in offering $15 reward for the recovery of the bodies.

Three Men Drowned in Boston Harbor. BOSTON, July 24.—A sad drowning accident occurred off Deer Island shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, by which three persons were drowned, and the other two occupants of the boat were rescued nearly dead, after clinging to the boat three-quarters of an hour.

Charged With an Attempt to Extort. WORCESTER, Mass., July 26.—Hugh D. Magee, proprietor of The Worcester Dispatch, was arrested yesterday on the complaint of Dr. Edward E. Frost, that on July 21 Magee threatened to accuse Frost of a crime for the purpose of obtaining money.

Lynn Man Missing.

LYNN, Mass., July 25.—James C. Seaton, 60 years of age, residing on Barker Court, this city, has been missing from his home since July 18. His wife has had no idea of his whereabouts, and has brought the matter to the attention of the police.

Death of a Prominent Connecticut Man. NEW LONDON, Conn., July 24.—Major John A. Tibbitts, ex-speaker of the Connecticut legislature and consul to Bradford, Eng., during President Harrison's administration, died here Saturday morning of bright's disease in his 49th year.

A Bullet in His Stomach.

NORWALK, Conn., July 27.—Michael English, 30 years old, while attempting to charge the cylinder of a revolver, was wounded by a .32-calibre ball, which passed through his left hand into the stomach. He may die.

Jefferson Is All Right.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., July 25.—Joseph Jefferson was shown a published dispatch which stated that he was dying from a cancerous affection of the throat. Mr. Jefferson said the story was absolutely false.

Denver's Unemployed.

DENVER, July 27.—Thirty-five hundred hungry people were fed with bread, meat and milk yesterday by the missions. The list of idle men is increasing as the miners come in from the camps.

And Still Another.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 25.—The National Bank of the Commonwealth suspended payment this morning. The national comptroller was notified by the directors.

CHANDLER'S HOT SHOT

Directed Against High Law Officials in the Granite State.

CONCORD, N. H., July 27.—Senator W. Chandler in to-day's Monitor publishes an open letter or editorial address to Harry Bingham and Hon. W. L. Foster, presidents, respectively, of the Grafton and Coos and New Hampshire railroad associations, preferring charges against Chief Justice Doe and Associate Justice Smith, Clark, Blodgett and Carpenter of the New Hampshire supreme court for their alleged palpable error and erroneous opinion adverse to the claimed rights of the people of New Hampshire in the Concord railroad which has been rendered to the house of representatives.

Mr. Chandler desires these charges to be placed before the members of the two associations together with accompanying papers, and says that if these charges are found to be false then the instigator should be given the severest possible punishment. If proven, then the judges deserve to be driven from their places by all the powers of a plundered and outraged people.

A BRUTAL HUSBAND.

Edward Welch's Cruelty to His Wife Resulted in Her Death.

PALMER, Mass., July 26.—Mrs. Edward Welch of Stafford Springs has just died at her home, a victim, it is charged, of a most abusive husband. Her troubles were manifold, and her emaciated form bespeaks the terrible suffering through which she has passed.

Her husband is not a man addicted to the use of liquor, but is pronounced by his townsmen a brutal man. Complaints against him are a common thing. Dr. N. on has attended his wife in repeated sickness brought on by the want of food and clothing. Repeatedly has Welch thrown away the medicine prescribed by the physician, and once he said he would bury his wife this fall.

Last winter he kept her in a shanty too small for a decent habitation and so exposed to the blasts that the frost stood upon the walls, and there the poor woman, too ill to notify anyone, suffered.

Winding Up the Endowment Orders.

BOSTON, July 26.—The cases of the last of the endowment orders came up yesterday before Judge Barker, who will appoint receivers for each of them at once. There were six orders, including the American Friendly society, the Abraham Lincoln Benefit association, the American Mutual Relief association, the Order of Franklin, the National Fraternal and Beneficiary union and the United Order of Equity.

The Sunday Closing Again.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Charles W. Clingmann's Sunday closing injunction against the World's fair was revived today, when Attorney Wason called the attention of the court to the fact that the restraining order was violated Sunday. Notice was served on the defendants to show why they should not be attached for contempt of court.

Daniel Rooney's Horrible Death.

BOSTON, July 24.—Daniel Rooney, a resident of Winchester, was instantly killed by a train on the Boston and Maine railroad yesterday. His head was discovered about 4 a. m. near the crossing at the Center, and the trunk and limbs were scattered along the track, the body being shockingly mutilated.

Ainsworth and Others Indicted.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The grand jury found a true bill against Frederick C. Ainsworth, George W. Daet, William E. Covert and Francis Sasse, holding them responsible for the old Ford's theater disaster of June 9 last, in which 33 persons lost their lives and a large number of others were injured.

Francis Resigns.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 25.—Cashier Francis of the Pittsfield National bank, who has been the subject of much unpleasant newspaper notoriety of late, tendered his resignation to the directors yesterday afternoon, and it was accepted. The reason assigned is ill-health and the need of rest.

The Strout Case.

RAYMOND, Me., July 27.—The physicians have concluded the post-mortem examination over the body of Jacob Strout. The report is jealously guarded. There were black and blue places all over the dead man's body. There were also many bruises on the back of the arms.

Sad Drowning Accident.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., July 24.—George Bagnell, aged 71, and his grandson, aged 7, were drowned in Great South pond yesterday. The dead body of a horse attached to a buggy was found in the water near the spot. Mr. Bagnell formerly drove the stage from Plymouth to New Bedford.

The Rajah at Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 26.—His highness, the Maharajah of Kapurthala made his triumphant entry last night. The rajah, his wife and retinue reached Wickford from New York on the 7 o'clock train, and from thence came by boat to Newport. He is to pay Boston a visit.

Not Looking For Office.

BOSTON, July 27.—Hon. Josiah Quincy has left for Washington. Before departing he said: "I am in no sense a candidate for either the mayoralty or gubernatorial nomination. I have only to thank my friends for mentioning me in those connections."

Death of a Yale Professor.

NEW HAVEN, July 26.—Edward T. McLaughlin, professor of English literature at Yale, died yesterday of typhoid fever, after only a week's illness. He was married a few months ago to Miss Brush, daughter of Professor Brush of New Haven.

Killed on the Race Track.

CONY ISLAND, N. Y., July 25.—Jockey Thomas Flynn was thrown from his mount at the Brighton Beach race track and received injuries from which he died soon after. Flynn was 22 years old. Flynn was mounted on Sub Rosa.

Manchester Bank Closed.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 25.—The Bank of New England was enjoined from doing business yesterday afternoon, on the same lines as in the case of the New Hampshire Trust company.

Powderly to Resign.

NEW YORK, July 25.—It is stated that T. V. Powderly will resign as grand master workman of the Knights of Labor in October, and will then practice law in Pennsylvania.

Suicide of a Despondent Lover.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 24.—Harvey Custer, aged 25, committed suicide yesterday. An unfortunate love affair is said to be the cause.

Dramatic Taste in San Francisco.

A San Francisco audience will be much more amused by the manner in which the professor breaks down Mrs. Brooklyn Bridge's ceiling than it will over the splendid merriment of Sir Toby Belch, Sir Andrew Aguecheek and Malvolio. It is like the French audience, which is infinitely more amused by wit than by humor.

But comedy is not held in great favor here. The San Franciscans being the most pleasure loving of people, prefer tragedy. A good, old fashioned, blood spilling tragedy, where every one is killed in the last act, is highly approved of. If Edwin Forrest were alive today, he would count his most frantic admirers in the city by the Golden Gate.

Tragedy as he must have understood it—tragedy played with all the force of the lungs—tragedy where the murdered victim and the despairing suicide took half an hour to die and died acrobatically from the footlights to the door at the back of the stage—would meet with the heartiest approval here. The element in the theaters which loved and worshiped Forrest and his energetic methods is larger in San Francisco than in most cities of its size. It is not that the audiences here do not contain individual spectators of the highest artistic insight and cultivation, it is that the majority of the audience is formed of spectators whose taste in the drama is very much on the same lines as the taste in the drama of the gods in the gallery. The spectators of insignificant education and uncultivated taste are more numerous than the spectators of cultured mind and trained powers of appreciation, and the majority rules.—San Francisco Argonaut.

"Toad Bone" Was a Wonder.

All early writers attribute wonderful qualities to toads and frogs and the various parts of their bodies. Pliny believed, for instance, that if a toad was brought into the midst of a mob or other large and unruly concourse of people "silence would instantly prevail." A small bone found in the right side of toads "of the proper age" was also believed to have powers over the various elements. "By throwing this bone into a vessel of boiling water," says Pliny, "it will immediately cool it, the water refusing to boil again until the bone has been removed. To find this bone, expose the dead toad on an ant hill. When the ants have eaten her all away except the bones, take each bone separately and drop it into boiling water. Thus may the wondrous toad bone be discovered." This antihill bone of course had its opposite.

In another portion of his work Pliny says: "On the other hand, again, in the left side of this reptile there is another bone which when thrown into water has all the appearance of making it boil. The name given this bone is 'apocynon,' which signifies 'dog availing,' because it has the power and property of assuaging the fury of the fiercest dogs." It was also a sovereign remedy for love and other trouble, would conciliate estranged friends, and if water in which a "toad bone" had been steeped be used mixed with lamb's tallow as an ointment "the person using the same might without the least effort see ghosts and divers spirits both by the day and by the night."—St. Louis Republic.

Two Hundred Inches of Rainfall.

Cherra Punji, in the Khasi hills, Assam, British India, is the "pole of the greatest known rainfall." In other words, it is the wettest region on the face of the earth. Mr. Blandford, at a meeting of the London Meteorological society, read a paper entitled "Rainfall at Cherra Punji," in which he presented incontestable proof of the extreme moisture of the country in question. The records go back for nearly 65 years, but prior to 1872 are rather incomplete, there being several whole years in which no record was kept. Carefully compiled data from these weather journals, however incomplete as they are, prove that quite frequently during the summer, say from May to September, the rainfall for a single month ranges from 100 to 212 inches. Think of it! Nearly 18 feet of precipitation in 30 days. Colonel Sir Henry Yule's register for the year 1841 shows that there were 264 inches of rainfall during the month of August. That was something phenomenal even for Assam, however, and is not taken into account in the deductions made above.—St. Louis Republic.

In all your outings—to the World's Fair—Seaside—Mountains—everywhere, take

Beecham's Pills

(Tasteful) with you.

Illness frequently results from changes of food, water, climate, habits, etc., and the remedy is Beecham's Pills.

"For Years,"

Says LARRY E. STOCKWELL, of Chesterfield, N. H., "I was afflicted with an extremely severe pain in the lower part of the chest. The feeling was as if a ton weight was laid on a spot the size of my hand. During the attacks, the perspiration would stand in drops on my face, and it was agony for me to make sufficient effort even to whisper. They came suddenly, at any hour of the day or night, lasting from thirty minutes to half a day, leaving as suddenly; but, for several days after, I was quite prostrated and sore. Sometimes the attacks were almost daily, then less frequent. After about four years of this suffering, I was taken down with bilious typhoid fever, and when I began to recover, I had the worst attack of my old trouble I ever experienced. At the first of the fever, my mother gave me Ayer's Pills, my doctor recommending them as being better than anything he could prepare. I continued taking these Pills, and so great was the benefit derived that during nearly thirty years I have had but one attack of my former trouble, which yielded readily to the same remedy."

GREAT

EVERYTHING MARKED DOWN.

On all sales of one dollar and upwards the purchaser will receive a Liberal Discount. We must have room for Fall Stock and money to pay for it.

48 DAYS
OF BUSINESS JUST FOR FUN.

From this date until September 15th, everything in our enormous stock of Men's and Boys' Clothing and Men's Outfittings, (Dunlap Hats excepted) is marked down. That old "chestnut" mark-down sale, threadbare and stale, too often means shop-worn unseasonable goods that nobody wants, at any price, but the sale includes everything in our stock. We do not propose to skim out the best of our stock, hide it away, and impose upon our customers with a Mark-down Sale of trash.

NO SKIMMED MILK

In this sale. The cream is all here, and do not forget that cream always comes to the surface, and that the early bird gets the cream. On all sales of $1 or more the purchaser gets a liberal discount. No man, woman or child ever before visited a Mark-down Sale with such an enormous quantity and endless variety of desirable goods as this, in which every garment or article, however new and seasonable, was included. Everything goes in this great sale.

Our Loss is Your Gain!

Men's Suits, Men's Trousers, Men's Light-weight Overcoats, Men's and Boys' Undergarments, Straw Hats, Hammocks, Fur and Wool Hats (Wilcox excepted), Outing Shirts, Bicycle Suits, Sweaters, White Shirts, Night Shirts, Handkerchiefs, Neckwear, Collars, Cuffs, Umbrellas, Mackintoshes, Boys' Knee Pants, and in fact everything included in this remarkable sale. Do you realize that this is an unheard-of OPPORTUNITY!

Remember that this sale and the World's Fair happen only once in a lifetime. They are both ripe now and should be picked at once. N.B. In consideration of this discount it must be distinctly understood that no Suspenders or presents of any kind will be given with sales, however large.

Take Notice.

You will observe that there is no "wildcat" statements in this sale of "Goods at half-price," "Goods at your own price," etc. It is a genuine square deal and all around sale of all goods in our store at a liberal reduction on every garment.

LAWRENCE, * MASS.

THE "FLY COP'S" BLUNDER.

He Caught the Pickpocket Who Gave Him the Chills.

He was just in from the wilds of the "Umteenth" ward, and the "pull" his alderman had with the chief had secured his promotion to the dignity of a central "fly cop."

The importance of his new position weighed heavily upon him, and he struggled bravely to uphold it. The superiority of a fly cop over an ordinary patrolman traveling his beat burned deeply in his brain, and he looked haughtily at those cross-while acquaintances who still wear the blue coats and brass buttons.

One day the new man, with the unfortunate who had been told off as his partner, were sent down to watch for pickpockets on the State street cable line. There was little success until suddenly the newly made fly cop grasped his partner's arm. "There's a fellow I've had my eye on for some time," he said proudly, "and now I'm going to get him. There he is, the tall guy with the soft hat."

The experienced man looked and smiled oddly. "Just as well now as any other time," he murmured softly to himself. Then he said, "I don't suppose you want any help."

Fired with visions of glory and the idea of making a single handed capture, the new man answered, "No, sirree, I'll take him myself."

Then his partner walked around the corner whistling in a subdued tone and muttering something about "fools having to take their medicine," although there wasn't a doctor or sick man in sight.

The man from the Umteenth boarded the car and flashed his star on the conductor, who, of course, pulled the bell at once. Then the ambitious detective walked up to the tall man and said: "I've got you now. Come along with me."

The gentleman turned and said: "I guess you've made a mistake, my friend. You don't know me."

"But I do, my boy, and that's the trouble. Come along with me. I've been looking out for you for the last two weeks."

The people in the car were staring, and a couple of men began looking for their pocketbooks. Then the tall man said: "Well, you'd better take me to the station."

"That's just what I intend to do. I won't call the wagon either."

He looked for his partner, but he was not around. So much the better—he alone would get the credit for the arrest.

As they walked over toward the city hall the patrolman on the corners saluted, and the Umteenth man was in the seventh heaven. His bravery was recognized. As they reached the door of the central station the officers looked up from their game of "cinch" and saluted with a "How are you, chief?" Then they looked at the capturer, and as they took in the situation a roar of laughter burst forth.

He looked around in amazement. Then the tall man said: "Now, my man, I'm much obliged for your company. I hope you'll know me the next time. Here's my card."

It read, "George W. Hubbard, Assistant Superintendent of Police."

Then the man from the Umteenth wrote out a request to be transferred back to his beat on the corner of West Forty-eighth and One Hundred and Fourth streets, and he is there.—Chicago News.

California Names Ending in O.

Attention has not been called, we believe, to one peculiarity—that is, the number of geographical names in California which end with o. In this respect this state must be awarded the championship medal, as a brief inspection of any list of names of places will show. First, among the 58 counties of California there are no less than 14 which end with the round letter. They are El Dorado, Fresno, Inyo, Mendocino, Mono, Sacramento, San Benito, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Francisco, San Luis Obispo, San Mateo, Solano and Yolo. It is to be observed that only a portion of these are named from masculine saints in the Spanish calendar, Fresno, Inyo, Mono, Solano and others being presumably Indian names, though the termination may have been put on by the early Spanish settlers. When we come to towns in California whose names end in o, their name is legion. There are, among others, Acampo, Alamo, Bernardo, Blanco, Calisto, Capistrano, Decoto, Echo, El Cacao, Fruto, Igo, Jacinto, Largo, Llano, Milo, Moreno, Navarro, Nicasio, Ono, Palermo, Philo, Rialto, Sansalito, Tropico, Venado and Volcano.

In the compilation of this imperfect catalogue the towns and cities named for saints have been omitted, as the list would be entirely too long, running from San Antonio through most of the letters of the alphabet to San Ysidro. There is said to be a reason for all things, and it is not unlikely that the names given by the early and pious Spanish settlers to their settlements may have sounded pleasant to the gringos who came after them and have influenced them, perhaps unconsciously, to confer upon their own mining camps and villages and towns names ending with the letter o.—San Francisco Chronicle.

What Froebel Discovered.

Little Teddy, who is most regular in his attendance at the kindergarten, was very much interested in the approaching celebration of Froebel's birthday. The day before the event he came rushing into the house crying, "Mamma, mamma, I must have some flowers to take to kindergarten tomorrow!" "Certainly, my son, but why do you want them?" "Why, don't you know? Tomorrow is the anniversary of the day that Froebel discovered the first kindergarten!"—New York Tribune.

The Sunday evening meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society was held in the large vestry of the Congregational Church at 5.30 o'clock, and the latter part of the meeting was devoted to the report of the Montreal convention as presented by the local delegate, Miss Annie L. Sargent.

Among the older residents of our town are numbered Miss Clarissa Morse, 84 years of age, who resides at the old homestead on Johnson Street, and Mr. Putnam Ingalls, a neighbor, who passed his 80th birthday last week. Miss Morse is the possessor of a good memory and can recall many interesting incidents of the town's early history.

Wednesday Eugene Frances and Louis Marshall were taken in tow by Officer Fred Royal of the Centre on a charge of simple larceny of berries, the same being the property of T. H. Kinnear, a resident of the Farnham District, and taken from his field without permission. Janitor Pinkham guarded the offenders until evening when the case was placed on file by Judge Weil.

The lawn party of the Epworth League on Monday evening was greatly enjoyed by a gathering of about one hundred people, including visitors from the Parker Street Chapter of South Lawrence. The lawn of Mr. E. S. Edmunds presented a very pretty appearance, being brightly lighted for the occasion with many colored Chinese lanterns and four large head-lights. Out-of-door games were played and a social time was enjoyed. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, the gentlemen providing the former and the ladies the latter.

The funeral services of Annie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Diggle, were held at the home of the family, corner of Pleasant and Clarendon Streets, last Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. H. H. Leavitt of Cambridge officiating. A large number of friends was present. A trio consisting of Misses Lizzie M. Saunders, Annie L. Sargent, and Mr. Andrew McLean rendered the following selections: "My Jesus, as thou wilt" and "Forever with the Lord."

Messrs. Fred Coleman, William Bruce, William Frost, and Thomas Welsh served as pall bearers. There were many beautiful tributes of affection and esteem, among them were the following: anchor inscribed with the word "Hope," Congregational Sabbath School; crescent, Christian Endeavor Society; cross, Mr. and Mrs. Barti; wreath, Miss May Welch; basket, from Misses Annie Grogan, Esther Somerville, Julia Connolly; 23 pinks, indicating the age of deceased, Miss Christina Roberts; 23 roses from each of the following: Miss Lillian Payne, Mrs. J. Burial was in Bellevue Cemetery, Lawrence.

Another Case of Assault.

According to the present outlook our quiet town will achieve an unenviable notoriety, or at least offer a disgraceful calendar of criminal processes for the consideration of the next Grand Jury. Saturday night between 9.30 and 10 o'clock, as Miss Margaret Ellen, daughter of John Goodbody, was returning from an errand to a local store, she was seized and thrown to the ground by a young man when in the vicinity of McCarthy's crossing on Lower Main Street. Her shrieks and struggles attracted Daniel Daly, who went to her assistance, and rescued her from the villainous grasp of a young man, John E. Murphy, son of John L. Murphy of Sutton Street. The young man had dragged her to one side of the crossing into darkness when help arrived.

Mr. Goodbody was told of the circumstances by his son, and early Sunday morning the facts were made known to Chief Robinson, who arrested Murphy and locked him up. Bail, however, was fixed at $100, and he was released later. The case was given a hearing before Judge Weil Monday morning, and Murphy ordered to furnish the sum of $500 for his appearance before the Grand Jury in October.

During the struggle the young lady, who is 23 years old, was out about the face and bruised about the body. She is said to be a young lady of excellent character, while Murphy, a boy of 18 years, is said to be addicted to drink and quite the reverse.

The defendant was represented by Student Mahoney, who was unable to convince the court that his client was at the time engaged in searching for a bottle. The Chief of Police has also been unable to find any bottle near the scene of transgression.

Obituary.

MR. SAMUEL MARSHALL GREENWOOD.

Death has hushed another voice and taken from our midst the presence of one well and favorably known by a residence in town of nearly a quarter of a century. Mr. Samuel Marshall Greenwood. He was a native of Lincolnshire, England, and on his arrival in this country about twenty-four years ago was first employed on the farms of Samuel and Nathan Barker for nearly two years, then removed to West Boxford and followed the occupation of a shoe-maker; after a short residence here he returned and located permanently near Lake Cochichewick and engaged in farming and the ice business, the increase of the latter of late years occupying the larger share of his attention.

Mr. Greenwood patriotically served his country during its time of need, and was in active service at the front. He enlisted at Boxford and was connected with the 4th Mass. Cavalry for one and a half years. He has been a member of Needham Post 39, G. A. R., of Lawrence for about ten years, but of no other organized society. About a year ago an illness commenced which continued to slowly undermine his health, but more rapidly during the past three months. Securing no practical relief from local medical aid, three weeks ago he visited the Massachusetts General Hospital at Boston. The following Wednesday a surgical examination revealed a cancer situated at the back of the stomach, giving but little opportunity of a successful operation. The incision made was closed and the patient calmly awaited the end which occurred Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, aged 67 years, 4 months. Two hours previous, his wife had visited him and left him feeling comparatively comfortable, but soon after he began to sink rapidly.

Mr. Greenwood was a plain, out-spoken man and found the pleasures of life in home and family. Through good citizenship and integrity he was of value to the community. The surviving family consists of a widow and four married children: Mr. George G. of Hopedale; Mrs. Mary, wife of Q. W. Perley, Haverhill; Mrs. Jennie, wife of Mr. W. H. Griffin, Haverhill; N. H., and Mr. Frank M. Greenwood of town.

Funeral services were held at the late residence Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. Charles Park of Connecticut, who is supplying the pulpit of the Congregational Church at West Boxford, officiating. The sons and sons-in-law served as bearers. Interment in Ridge-wood Cemetery.

MR. WILLIAM HEROD.

After a lingering illness of consumption continuing about a year, death brought relief to Mr. William Herod, at the home of Mr. William Wooley on Clarendon Street, about 10 o'clock Sunday evening. Deceased was 36 years, 11 months and 12 days old, and was a native of Lancashire, England. He was well known and kindly remembered by many friends in Lawrence, where he resided for a period of about ten years. For several months he was employed in Foreman Alonzo Bixby's department of the tin shop of the Machine Shop. A widow and infant child, 8 months old, survive him. Mr. Herod was a member of Merrimack Lodge, Sons of St. George, Lawrence, and of Bradstreet Colony Pilgrim Fathers of town.

Funeral services were held at the home of Mr. William Wooley Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Wood of St. John's Church, Lawrence, officiating. Messrs. Thomas Lee, Tom Pendleton, Samuel Kellett, Samuel Colley, John Hadden, George Brown served as bearers.

Among the floral tributes was a pillow inscribed "Husband" from the widow; crescent, Mr. and Mrs. William Wooley; pillow inscribed "U. O. P. F., No. 128"; basket, Mr. and Mrs. Stopford of Lawrence; bouquets from Ladies' Sewing Circle of town, Children's Aid Society, Mrs. Eliza Somerville, Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Pittfield, Mr. and Mrs. Colley, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald of Lawrence. Interment at Bellevue Cemetery, Lawrence.

CRYSTALLINE
SALT
PUT UP IN ROUND CARTONS

It does very well to pack common salt, into rough wooden boxes or cheap cotton bags, but for snow white table salt round cartons are the correct thing.

They are dust-tight, handy and convenient.

CAUTION.—Since CRYSTALLINE became so popular, salt has been put upon the market in round cartons, which somewhat resemble the Crystalline cartons. It's the stuff inside that's different.
